Introduction

This Student Workbook is designed for use with the text Teaching. It will help you understand and remember the facts and concepts about teaching presented in the text. It will also help you apply this learning to your future career goals.

The activities in this workbook are divided into chapters that correspond to the chapters in the text. By reading the text first, you will have the information you need to complete the activities. Try to complete the activities without referring to the text. If necessary, you can look at the book again later to complete any questions you could not answer. At that time, you can also compare the answers you have to the information in the book.

Many of the activities, such as the guided notes and questions, can be used as review guides when you study for tests and quizzes. Other activities, such as observations, evaluations, and comparisons, will ask for opinions and ideas that cannot be judged as “right” or “wrong.” These activities are designed to stimulate your thinking and help you apply information presented in the text.

The activities in this workbook have been designed to increase your interest and understanding of the text material. The more thought you put into the activities, the more knowledge you will gain from them.
